Description

Capture the majesty of the Swiss Alps with this exquisite 19th-century oil painting by the renowned Austrian artist Hubert Sattler (1817–1904). Painted under his well-known pseudonym, E. Grossen, this work showcases Sattler's characteristic mastery of light and meticulous attention to detail. The composition features a quintessentially Alpine scene: a rustic wooden chalet nestled in the lush valley of Grindelwald. Dominating the background is the towering, snow-capped peak of the Wetterhorn mountain, rendered with a soft, atmospheric color palette that emphasizes its monumental scale. This piece is a classic example of the Cosmorama style Sattler helped popularize—highly detailed, accurate, and evocative landscapes that transport the viewer to another time and place. Key Features Artist: Hubert Sattler (Austrian, 1817–1904). Signature: Signed with the pseudonym "E. Grossen" in the lower corner. Subject: Grindelwald, Switzerland, featuring the Wetterhorn mountain.
