Description

C19th Bavarian shooting competition target with a painted hunting scene, dated 21st September 1884. The text running around the side of the target, from what I understand, mentions the competition and the winning marksman. These competitions were a great tradition in the southern Germany regions. The condition is good, although it has been shot at of course, so there are an impressive cluster of shots around the target. The pine board itself has remained in great condition and is braced on the rear. Great decor piece and a fun item. The original hanging loop is in tact and will happily hold the panel on your wall. Measuring: 21" or 53.5cm diameter. This item can be posted within the UK by courier at a cost of £25 + vat (£30) or you are very welcome to collect from Uppingham, Rutland.
