Description

Nice example of a small Oak Coffin dating from the 18th Century. It has a traditional panelled construction standing on four square legs with a hinged lid and an internal candle box. It has a superb rich patination with the original carved arch detail along the top of the front side and further lightly incised naive carvings. It has avoided being heavily overcarved and is a very pretty example. The inside is generally clean and tidy and the piece is strong and sturdy. It is in very good condition and displays well. The hinges have been changed at some point, as has the internal lock and there is a very old repaired split in one of the top panels. There are various signs of age and use and general knocks and marks but nothing detrimental. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions at all please ask. Free local delivery within 10 miles of Ashburton, Devon. London £50.
