Description

Edwardian mahogany small dining table This Edwardian mahogany small dining table was made in one of the best workshops of the day, I would attribute it to Waring and Gillows of Lancaster as I have had similar designs to this in the past with their branding. The table is made of solid mahogany that was chosen as the timber was so striking with lots of life and wonderful flowing grain. To each corner is a finely turned mahogany leg fitted with its original brass and porcelain rolling castors. Using a winding handle the mechanism the table winds out so that you can place the extra leaf in place. The dining table will be fantastic in a smaller dining area and will give the area a rich feel as this is a stunning piece. Imagine how good this will look in your home and the complimentary comments you will receive from your family and friends as you entertain. 150cms fully extended with the leaf in place 59ins 105.5cms wide 41 1/2ins 75cms high 29 1/2ins 108cms long closed without the leaf in place 42 1/2ins All measurements are approximate This Edwardian mahogany small dining table is a finite item and a very green product that has not affected the environment we live in.
