Description

A really impressive country-house 9-tier pot stand in wrought iron. It retains much of its original paintwork with an endearing distressed finish showing true signs of age. The feet and the tips of the uprights have a delightful hand-crafted wrought curl, and each of the pot tiers have stylish concave sides. This stunning saucepan stand — one of the best we've seen in years — would grace any country house kitchen. It is English, c.1850s. . . .
