Description

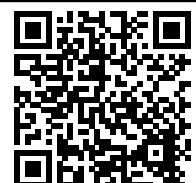

This is a very fine example of a gents classic wristwatch made by the world renowned premier Swiss maker Vacheron Constantin. This is one of the most famous watches made by Vacheron Constantin, known as the Ultra Fine it held the record for the slimest hand wound movements ever made at 1.64mm. It has what is regarded as one of the best movements ever produced during the golden age of Swiss watchmaking. This is the calibre 1003 with 17 jewels adjusted to 5 positions, a true chronometer grade movement. The model reference number is 6290. Such is the status of the original Ultra Fine that Vacheron have just re issued it as part of their Historique collection, More information about this watch can be found on their web site. The original starburst dial is just superb and it retains its original hands and winding crown, the only thing that has been replaced is the glass. It also retains its original buckle made by A Wenger (marked AW) who also made buckles for Patek Philippe and Audemars. It has a solid 18ct gold case measuring 25.5mm square. As you would expect from Vacheron Constantin the watch is fully marked on the dial, movement and case. It is extremely rare t...
