Description

An impressive large antique Victorian curtain pole in beautifully aged oak with gilt highlights dating from circa 1880. In Gothic Revival taste, this unique piece has a country house feel with wonderful age and patina; the mellow well-figured oak with faded gilt highlights throughout. The main pole is channelled and has its original brass pulley, now featuring 16 wooden rings. To the end of the poles are wonderfully carved and shaped finials in oak with faded gilt highlights. All original condition. Construction/Wood: Oak Condition Report: Original condition with good colour and patina. General wear and marks commensurate with age. Some old solid mends to the base of the finial. Rings included. No brackets. Dimensions: Max Width Finial to Finial: 225cm Pole Width: 191cm Pole Diameter: 6cm
