Description

A wonderful early 20th century leather hat box or travelling case. This top quality example of British luggage making has a simple bold design, is made of superb leather with a rich colour of immense depth, and stitching in incredibly good order throughout. The handle is good and strong, and the clasp clicks shut, without key, securely. By placing a tray on the top it could even double up as a small low table. This prime example, c.1920s, is in top condition. . . .
