Description

An unusual & rare mahogany Early Victorian Period hall bench. Constructed using the finest mahogany throughout and having a slightly raking back with a central shield with elaborately shaped splats, shaped ends and turned finials. The beautifully figured mahogany seat is supported on four hexagonal faceted supports and having a nicely carved frieze. An almost identical example of this bench is found on page 337 of the pictorial dictionary of British 19th Century furniture design and shown to have been designed by W. Blackie circa 1853-1855. Dimensions: 59" wide x 19" deep x 36" high (seat height 17"). Condition: This bench is in superb original condition, cleaned and waxed.
