Description

A wonderful example of an increasingly rare item. This apple corer dates from the reign of George III. It is clearly hallmarked for London 1808, with the maker's mark for Thomas Phipps and Edward Robinson. The turned, green-stained handle is a little loose. The attachments between the silver and handle are present and original but they wobble slightly. It is interesting that the hallmarks on this blade are on the outside, whereas the other corer I have for sale, by the same makers and from a similar period (1797) has the hallmarks on the inside of the blade. The silver portion is 7.5cm long, and the entire corer, 13cm in length. Post and packaging are free within the UK. Overseas buyers please e-mail for postage costs and please note: Import duties, taxes, and charges are not included in the item price or shipping cost. These charges are the buyer's responsibility. Please check with your country's customs office to determine what these additional costs will be prior to buying.
