Description

An antique pine food larder cupboard in good clean condition, dating from the turn of the century. There are four deep drawers, with little wooden knobs, running vertically down the left hand side of a cupboard. The original pretty metal air vent is in good order, as is the lock and key. The door is hung on external hinges, allowing it to open fully (a useful feature when accessing the cupboard). Currently, while the door is closed the drawers cannot be opened. If you would like us to move the strip, so you can open the drawers while the cupboard is closed, please let us know and we can do this for you. Inside the cupboard is one half depth shelf at the top, and two full depth shelves below. It is stood on bun and block feet. Recently stripped to the bare wood, and can be bought as seen for £460. It is now ready for waxing or painting. Price includes waxing. Height 55", width 38.5", depth 16"
