Description

-Welcome to Mersham Manor Antiques- A fine Regency "sentry" combination wardrobe. c1820. This very elegant and imposing combination wardrobe is made of mahogany, with an outstanding colour and wonderful rich flame figuring throughout. The "sentry" ends have beautifully carved swan-neck pediments, having delightful carved bell-flower motifs. These are over Gothic arch panelled doors, having rich flame figuring to the mahogany. The doors open to reveal a later fitted metal hanging rail. With slides and shoe storage box to the left wardrobe. To the right wardrobe are original brass hooks to the back, plus the later added metal hanging rail. Keys to each wardrobe. The "sentry" boxes flank a large chest of mahogany lined drawers, having an arrangement of two short drawers, over five long graduating drawers, with a very attractive architectural style pedimented top. The flame figuring to each drawer is simply stunning. The height of the chest section is extremely practical as it isn't too tall, so you can see in the top drawers very easily. Original brass handles to the drawers, which are of excellent quality, very ornate and chunky. Standing on flattened bun-feet, on...
