Description

Fine quality 19th.c. marble topped washstand by the celebrated Manchester manufacturers Doveston Bird & Hull c.1860. Original white marble top with rounded edges and a low gallery to the sides and rear. On a mahogany base with nine drawers arranged around a central knee hole. Moulded drawer fronts with turned mahogany knobs and solid mahogany drawer linings. Moulded plinths around the bases, raised on the original castors. Clear maker's stamp to the top of the centre drawer. Excellent colour and condition with a couple of small repairs to the sides. Cleaned and waxed in our workshops. Doveston Bird & Hull were one of the few provincial firms to achieve national acclaim. In the 1860s they employed the designer Bruce Talbert, who established a Gothic revivalist style which they adopted for the furnishing of Manchester Town Hall (1876-7). Dimensions: width 48", depth 24", height 32".
