Description

This pair of stylish and very comfortable tub chairs were discovered in a country estate in Godalming, near Guildford. Of all the interesting contents within the house this pair of elegant Georgian style chairs drew Culvertons' attention the most. The original tired & damaged leather upholstery needed to be replaced - after exposing, restoring and re-polishing their mahogany frames both chairs have been completely re-upholstered (using as much of the original materials as possible) and finished with a hand-dyed leather; secured with over 1000 solid brass studs. The approximate measurement of the seat depth is 56 cm, and the seat height is 48.5 cm
