Description

Antique oak small dresser This Antique oak small dresser was made in the early 19th century. It was made in a country workshop using estate wood mainly oak but also some elm. The carpenter would have used the timber at hand from trees that had been felled or fallen in storms on one of the large estates. Made to a delightful smaller size as it would have been for one of the estate cottages that were more modest in size. To the front it stands on bold cabriole legs that end on pad feet and the usual square legs to the rear. It is fitted 3 drawers, each with the period oval brass handles, under the drawers is a shaped apron. 137cms wide 54ins 47.5cms deep 18 3/4ins 81cms high 32ins
