Description

Elegant early C19th George IV period rosewood sewing or work table of Gillows design. Figured rosewood table attributed to a design by the esteemed cabinet-making firm of Gillows of Lancaster & London. The figured rosewood rectangular top fitted with a shallow raised 'cock-beaded' mould to the inner edge. The ends each fitted a hinged lidded and silk-lined demi-lune compartment. Fitted with a silk pleated bag beneath on a sliding frame, which opens from both sides of the free-standing table. Raised on shaped and fretted uprights of vase design and fitted with a central turned bar, onto a platform with shaped scroll feet. The upright ends joined by a central turned stretcher bar of conforming design. In excellent original condition with rich patination and original polished finish. The demi-lune compartments and fabric bag, all recently re-lined and covered in a pink moiré or watered silk fabric. A well-designed and elegant ladies' sewing table in ready-to-use condition.
