Description

This antique distressed leather armchair has quite small proportions, but still has plenty of seat room. It's a real character item & the leather has been professionally restored & polished. The leather has a rich original colour & is free from splits or tears. It's hand tacked & sits on turned mahogany legs, which I just noticed need a better polish, which we will do before it goes out. This is a lovely English model & I would date it to around the 1890-1910 period.
