Description

A fine quality mid 18th century 22k gold pair case pocket watch. A fine gilt signed fusee movement with pierced and engraved masked cock and sculptured square pillars. An enamel dial with 5 minute outer markers and gilt hands. A 3 arm steel balance and a large diamond end-stone. The cover is signed 'Henry Neve London' and has a visible silvered regulation disc. Fine 22 k gold pair cases, the inner plain and the substantial outer case with a classical scene in repousse work with a rococo frame. London hallmarked 1745. Henry Neve, (Strand) London is listed in Baillies 'Watchmakers and Clockmakers of The World' book as working from 1700-1752. He was a clock and watchmaker renowned for his bracket clocks and gold repousse pocket watches. This watch has come direct from a private collection.
