Description

Magnificent late C18th George III period mahogany sideboard of serpentine outline with inlaid decoration. Bold-scale Georgian period mahogany sideboard with serpentine shaped front raised on six elegant square section legs with spade or block feet . The top with a broad cross-banding and line inlay with gently-swept rounded corners . The front with 2 deep oak-lined drawers , the cross-banded fronts with oval veneered and banded panels flanking a broad central drawer above an arched and shaped centre. Fitted with apparently original gilded-brass ring handles and classically-inspired design back-plates to each drawer . Inlaid with sophisticated classically-referenced honeysuckle and flower-head designs in fruitwood, boxwood and pen-work , the sides of the central arch with decorative inlaid spandrels . The whole with box-wood stringing and inlay . The central long drawer with decorative banding and inlay , designed to give the appearance of two parallel drawers . The drawers all with inlaid flower-heads to each of the corners . The centre of the arch with an Inlaid and pen-work oval classical motif from antiquity . The left-hand-side end return fitted with a discrete ...
