Description

An Art Deco Lamp by the American company, Chase. A circular glass shade, sat on a chrome square column with semi circular detailing to each side and mounted on a wooden, black stained base. In his forward to the 1934 "Chase Lights Catalogue" Mr Chase neatly summed up the goals of the newly-formed Chase Lighting division: to deliver goods of quality and to give customers their money's worth. The company's no nonsense commitment to its own high standards was the reason Chase lamps and fixtures remained favourites with the public from the early 1930s until the outbreak of World War II. In excellent condition and recently rewired. Base: 15.2cm square Width of shade: 20cm
