Description

An unusual English made walnut veneered military secretaire chest in two parts with oak drawer linings, on turned bun feet, which are detachable with screw threads. The secretaire has bramah lock and the small drawer fronts are veneered in satinwood with ebony turned knobs. The leather is original and so is the protective slide in front of the secretaire drawers and all the inset brass handles. It is an exceptional piece, the burr walnut giving it a lovely warm colour. It has an interesting provenance having belonged to Captain J.H. Gaitskill of the 106th Bombay light infantry, serving from 1862-68

Internal Ref: Walnut military secretaire
