Description

A charming 19th century bronze sculpture of a young boy cutting corn by Eugene Laurent (French 1832-1989). Born in Gray April 1832-1893. His works are of very high quality and with good attention to detail. The bronze boy is using a scythe to mow the corn and he is wearing a sun cap and sheepskin garment around his waist to keep him cool. The bronze has a brown patina and is in good condition for its age. Circa 1880 £1250 Contact 07970119030 Dimensions 30cm height 16cm width 17cm depth
