Description

Antique Oak North Country dresser This Antique oak North Country dresser was made circa 1800 for an important country home or farm for use in the large bustling kitchen, where it could be used for good storage of all the items needed. It is typical of furniture made in the workshops of Lancashire with the bandings of mahogany and the classic quarter columns to the front corners. It is fitted multiple drawers and with a central cupboard that open to reveal a shelf. These can be used in many areas of the home, not only a good kitchen area but halls, entranceways, drawing rooms, dining areas and other places that need good storage with character. 205cms long 80 1/2ins 50cms deep 19 1/2ins 85cms high 33 1/2ins All dimensions are approximate. This Antique North Country dresser is an item of antique furniture that is a very green product that has not affected the environment we live in.
