Description

Late 18th to early 19th century Georgian Spanish Miquelet Flintlock pistol that came our way privately. I know nothing about antique firearms at all but this is just a lovely item with great patina to the wood and metal. Walnut stock with brass wire type inlay and engraved brass end. Polished steel barrel of round form. Some nice engraving to the working parts and the end part of the stock. The gun has been de-commissioned so can't be fired as in line with the law. The pistol is basically in pretty good condition, there is some wear to the walnut in places and the push rod is missing but otherwise perfectly OK. Just a very nice object. PRICE INCLUDES UK POSTAGE COSTS SIZE; 15 1/2" long overall CIRCA; 1800 ORIGIN; Spanish
