Description

A rare and fine example. This rich puse colored shallow cabinet dish was made in the Daniel factory Circa 1825. It is finely decorated with three panels of hand-painted flowers which are set within ornately designed and richly gilded urn shaped cartouches with a large central medallion. Between this decoration, there are three exquisite hand painted views of exotic birds on branches. These are applied in raised matt and burnished gilding. This early piece of English porcelain is from a rare factory and is in excellent condition.
