Description

An impressive 40 cms tall this original 1930's Art Deco cold painted spelter table lamp is by Lorenzl and features a semi nude lady holding aloft a milk white glass globe. Kneeling on an alabaster base she is in beautiful condition with hardly any visible wear to the silver of her body and the varying shades of gold to her robe and hair. She's totally original no over painting so often found nowadays. The detailing and craftsmanship is wonderful and at every angle either switched on or off she looks amazing. The milk glass white shade is also original and is without damage. Some signs of age to the base but for it's 90 odd years to be expected.
