Description

Late C19th Chinese Qing Dynasty carved hardwood display stand of asymmetrical design. Oblong Chinese carved 'huali' staged height display stand with asymmetrically arranged shelves. The friezes all with scroll carving and the uprights and joining stretchers all with gently-shaped profiles. The shelves all of panelled form, with moulded edge surrounds. The whole raised on integral carved ball feet. Useful display shelves for a collection of Oriental or Chinese artefacts, or for use as a jardiniere plant stand. Excellent quality and grade of chosen timber with a rich patina. Some dark historic marks and rings to shelves, caused by variants of exposure to sunlight etc. H 39" W 27" D 12" China c.1880
