Description

A fine decorative French mantel clock striking hourly and half hourly on a coiled gong. The vitreous enamelled dial showing Roman numerals, fine fret cut hands of gilt brass and a cast brass decorative bezel surround with bevelled convex glass. The case is in remarkable condition for its age and retains a very good colour, a very deep red and glossy finish. The ormolu mounts are the original fire gilt and bright as are the bracket feet. Made in Paris around 1890 stamped and numbered. The clock strikes one at one and so on with the half hour always just a single blow. It is worth noting that all our clocks have had a full dismantle / overhaul unlike many others for sale online and carry a full 12 month Guarantee in writing, which adds to the value and longevity of this fine clock.
