Description

Free UK delivery "Lovely condition, with no splits or solder repairs and no nasty knocks or dents, just a couple of teeny little bruises, really nothing and a very nice example. The silver lid hinge works perfectly and the lid opens and closes tightly and securely and most importantly the beautiful faux tortoiseshell panel is undamaged and has a stunning colour. The interior velvet lining is also original and still in good condition with no splits or tears. As a bonus there are no added engraved inscriptions or monograms." Description A beautiful English antique solid sterling silver & faux tortoiseshell jewellery box by the silversmiths Atkin Brothers - (1896 - 1929) in lovely condition and with a full set of English silver hallmarks Birmingham 1918. Excellent quality genuine 102 year old silver example; (definitely not a modern re-production), with a hinged silver lid and with protruding banded side rims to assist lid opening. It is decorated on the top with a fine undamaged faux tortoiseshell panel and inside it is complete with its original velvet lining. It weighs approx 51 grams and there are no added personal engraved monograms or inscriptions. Measurements Measu...
