Description

A stunning and fine late Regency mahogany chiffonier dating to c1830. The flame mahogany 2 door cupboard (with key) is partitioned, on the right, into a pull out drawer and deep cellarette, each with the original recessed brass campaign type handles and, on the left, a cupboard divided by a shelf. The flame mahogany top surface is surmounted by a mahogany shelf on carved mahogany supports, in front of a handsome pointed arch flame mahogany back. The drawer below pulls out to reveal a drop flap front, and a deep display/storage space behind. It's likely that originally there were pigeon holes at the back of this space, removed at some earlier time (not by us). The sides, carcass, shelf and supports are solid mahogany. Flame mahogany veneer has been used to embellish the back, top and front. All in all, this is a lovely versatile piece for storage, serving, display or writing/laptop. With a quite narrow dimension, it can fit easily into many spaces in the home. Max dimensions given. The cellarette is 35cmH. 38cmW. 38cmD.
