Description

A beautiful antique walnut desk in the arts and crafts taste dating from the late 19th century. It has an arrangement of 9 drawers around a central kneehole although the top 2 drawers on each pedestal are double depth with a false double front. Each drawer has their original gothic style brass drop handles and matching escutcheons. It has a leather writing surface with gold tooling around the edge which has worn to a wonderful aged patina over the years. The whole piece is excellent quality with ebony stringing around the drawers, on the sides and even the insides. The reverse side of the desk has been neatly finished with more ebony stringing and good quality panels so the desk can be used as a centre piece as well as against a wall. The central drawer is stamped with the makers name "Bulstrode, Cambridge". The kneehole is a good size for working at, measuring approximately 17 1/4" (44cm) wide x 23 3/4" (60cm) high. The desk is in good condition for its age and has been well looked after. It has a lovely rich patina and the drawers open well. The inside of the drawers are generally clean and tidy with just some minor ink stains. There are some normal light signs of age...
