Description

A good quality antique Edwardian oak cupboard dating from circa 1910. In attractively figured solid oak with pegged construction, the twin door panels carved with lozenges in 17th style century style above a carved frieze and standing on twist turned legs united by cross stretchers. It has a lift up lid to the top and the back doors also open, the front doors locks and come with a working key. It has a two circular holes to the bottom covered with a loose oak shelf, presumably where speakers would have been, being used as a music cabinet at some point. With wonderful colour and patina to the oak this is a really useful size and makes great TV cupboard or music/drinks cabinet. Construction/Wood: Oak Condition Report: Good colour and patina. Solid and sturdy. It has a two circular holes to the bottom covered with a loose oak shelf, presumably where speakers would have been, being used as a music cabinet at some point. Dimensions: Max Width: 66cm Max Depth: 41cm Height: 106cm Internal: 57cm Wide x 35cm Deep x 50cm High
