Description

A lovely antique writing slope made of rosewood with brass corners, a brass escutcheon and matching brass cartouche. Inside, the box is fitted with a good quality dark green leather writing surface with a tooled edge. There is a pen tray and a small lidded compartment. Below the writing surface are two further storage compartments. The box comes with its original working key. It is in excellent condition for its age and has been sympathetically restored. It has been lightly cleaned and polished and it displays very well inside and out. There are no major damages to the wood exterior, just some light marks, small chips and minor signs of age and use but nothing detrimental and one brass corner piece has been replaced. It is clean and tidy inside and the patination is beautiful. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions please ask. Tracked UK Delivery £12.
