Description

An Antique Victorian Sterling silver bowl which is oval shape in design with curved ends, a slightly wavy edged top rim and resting on a pedestal foot. The top part of the body has an attractive frieze of flowers and bows and the lower part has fluted decoration. There is also a vacant cartouche on each side of the body. This small but well made bowl would look appealing on display and is still in excellent condition. It was hallmarked in London for 1888 by Martin Hall & Co and weighs 10.70 troy ounces (334 grams).
