Description

Its charming size, quality of the mahogany used in its construction, and knowing that it would sit comfortably within the smallest of homes, were just some of the elements that attracted me to this glazed topped bookcase. Now professionally restored and the surface sensitively enhanced, the timber's colour and grain can now, once again, be appreciated. Both the cupboard and its glazed bookcase above have two shelves, and each section is lockable (key's supplied). The bookcase comes into two making delivery and placement very manageable.
