Description

A most elegant late Victorian English decanter box made from wonderful Mahogany timber with a highly decorative piece of veneer to the top of the lid. The box retains it's six original smaller sized cut crystal decanters each with a pourer and each with it's original dome topped stopper, each engraved with the initials of what they would have contained: W = Whiskey; S = Sherry; G = Gin; B = Bourbon; IV = Italian Vermouth; FV = French Vermouth. The shoulders of each decanter are beautifully cut and each with a star cut on the underside. The box has two large solid Copper carrying handles, complimented by the escutcheon and top quality hinges and lock, the hinges marked London Make. The lock is not working but I have found a key and added a tassle which is nice for display purposes. Superb condition (on bruise on back of box, insignificant but mentioned for accuracy) with each decanter in perfect shape. 9 1/2" x 8" x 7" with each decanter measuring 2 1/2" square x 6 1/2" tall to top of stopper.
