Description

A lovely tilt-top table dating from the late 18th / early 19th Century. The rectangular top is made of two pieces of oak and it stands on a turned baluster and reeded support with tripod splayed legs and pad feet. It has the original blacksmith-made latch which is strong and in good order. It has been sympathetically restored and is very sturdy with a good level top. There are signs of age and use, some marks and old knocks but nothing detrimental and the whole piece has a lovely rich patina and displays well. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask. Free local delivery within 10 miles of Ashburton, Devon.
