Description

A very rare and unusual Georgian metamorphic music table. Up to 4 musicians can read music and play at this table. The quality of the table is very good and the condition is excellent. Mahogany decorated with painted musical instruments and swags of flowers. As you will see in the pictures when closed looks like a small side table with draw, then when you open it up that's where the magic is, very clever Georgian crafts men. The top lifts and there are adjustable supports holding each side in place a slide pulls out on one side and a draw on the opposite they both have lift up sections also on adjustable supports. This table is a very rare I had a similar one about 30 years ago and not seen one since. Circa 1760/90 Please ask any questions you may have.
