Description

Victorian leather reading chair This Victorian leather reading chair was made circa 1860. Standing on fine turned oak front legs with its original brass cup castors, the chair with the generous deep button back and swept arms. We have restored this chair back to its former glory, including fully upholstering it before using fine English leather. Our specialist in antique leather work has hand dyed the English hide before finishing with various waxes and other finishes to give it this original look and feel. The leather would pass as being the original, clients are amazed when I tell them our leather is not the original and love the fact that it is new leather looking period and so will last again for generations. Imagine how much pleasure you will have owning this chair as you settle back and enjoy relaxing in this chair 94cms high 37ins 72.5cms wide across arms 28 1/2ins 102cms deep 40ins 40cms seat height 16ins All measurements are approximate This Victorian leather reading chair is an item of antique furniture that is a very green product that has not affected the environment we live in.
