Description

Pair of lavish English Regency Period Fleur-de-Lys brass curtain stays, circa 1820 Three extravagant 'Ribbon Tied Ostrich feathers' cast with fine detailing and hand finished in a light golden gilt brass. Impressed pattern and makers mark 6108 S&P stamped on each, rare from an English maker. Fitted with square hooked lugs, to fit into simple slotted brackets (not present) to secure in place against the wall, et voila the luxury that keeps your drapes clear of the window is created. Alternatively would make fabulous decorative curtain pole brackets. Length from tip to ribbon 8" or 200mm, stand off the wall 6,1/4" or 160mm. Gross weight 1349 grams. Both in excellent condition with no damage or repair.
