Description

Early 19th Century, William IV, mahogany partners pedestal desk with nine drawers to the front, three drawers and two cupboards to the reverse, on a plinth base with original hidden brass castors. All the drawers are cock beaded and mahogany lined with turned knobs. The main central drawers on each side are stamped "M. Wilson, 68 Great Queen Street, London" This relates to Matthew Wilson and his mother, Mary, who were Cabinet Makers at this address from 1830-37. The desk has just been completely restored, polished and cleaned at our workshops, with a new black leather hide writing surface with Greek key design gilt tooling and inset line. It is in superb condition and is ready to grace any library, study or office.
