Description

An absolutely stunning example of Victorian piqué d'or - an intricate decorative technique where gold and/or sterling silver is inlaid into a material such as tortoiseshell. This brooch is of a striking geometric domed design, beautifully smooth to the touch and nicely lightweight, making it very wearable. Dating from around 1860. In excellent antique condition. Secures with a C clasp. The metals are unmarked but have been tested. Size: Approx 3.7cm diameter, 1.4cm high (not including pin). Weight: 10g.
