Description

A soft paste porcelain Sevres double lipped sauceboat, dated 1788, and matching plate, decorated in a variant of the "pois bleu" pattern, decorated by Jacques Fontaine. There is also a similar 19th century soup bowl, a later replacement. The sauceboat measures 22.6cm (8 7/8") long, 17.8cm (7") wide and 9cm (3 1/2") high. The plate measures 24cm (9 1/2") wide and 2.8cm (1 1/8") high. The bowl measures 23.7cm (9 1/4") wide and 4.5cm (1 3/4") high. Condition is very good: the sauceboat is in fine condition with no damage or restoration and minimal handling wear. There are a few small firing lines around the handles and some kiln dust spotting the the rims. The plate has been broken in half and been previously staple repaired but now professionally repaired, Handling wear is very light, just to one of two areas of the rim. The bowl has a small chip to the the rim and minor handling wear. Provenance: Previously offered at Bonhams Continental Ceramics & Glass, 24 May 2000, lot 130, and Bonhams British & European Ceramics, Glass & Asian Art, 23 October 2013, lot 230 The sauceboat has a collection sticker for the Norwich Castle Museum It is believed there are only 2 service...
