Description

I was instantly attracted to this high quality naturalistically decorated ceiling light when it was in situ in the dining room of a local Surrey residence. It has that 'X' factor that makes a favorable lasting impression and casts attractive facets of light around the room. It is in an excellent restored condition and appears to have been expertly re-wired for bayonet fitting bulbs - even so this light will be fully tested for safety before dispatch. The photographs show the ceiling light with LED bulbs which give an authentic feel to the light emitted.
