Description

A delightful oak glazed dresser or housekeepers from the Georgian period. The upper section with glazed doors and enclosed shelves. The base section is topped with three drawers each having nicely turned knobs. The lower panelled cupboard doors enclose a fitted shelf. The piece has wonderful dowelled and panel construction to its sides and doors. Original distressed paint to its interior adds to its charm. The cabinet has a lovely rich colour and patina with keys present for the upper and lower cupboards. Unusual to in these smaller proportions and a real looker. Would grace a modern or period interior and be a great addition to any home. Delivery to mainland UK included.
