Description

First half of the 20th century Commemorative boat. Express Wrecked by fire Goole 1902. We would say this boat model is early 20th century. This is based on the age of the original plywood that it is still mounted on. We have several of these boats for sale and our feeling is that they were all mounted together, once upon a time, and have been separated out into individual Boats at a later date. We brought them all separate and think that they would look very striking displayed together or as pairs. C1940
