Description

A George III oak and mahogany chest of drawers circa 1760, the rectangular top with a moulded edge and mahogany cross-banding to all four sides, over two short and three long drawers, all with mahogany cross-banded borders, shaped corners and a cock-beaded edge, with original brass swing handles and oval escutcheons, flanked by column corners and raised on bracket feet. A very nice quality chest of good colour, the bottom right handle is a replacement and lacking escutcheon to the bottom drawer, otherwise in very good order.
