Description

Two antique truncheons dating to the late 19thC. One is made of oak which has darkened with age, has a turned ridged grip and is of short length, and known as a dockers truncheon for use on ships. The other is made of mahogany, also with a turned ridged grip, and is inscribed at the tip "B WING W.S. 685", and is possibly a prison truncheon. The oak truncheon has some characterful signs of use. The mahogany truncheon has good colour and patina. Both are in excellent condition. Oak truncheon 40cm length, 4cm diameter. Mahogany truncheon 46cm length, 4cm diameter.
