Description

A good example of a late 18th Century oak Tallboy. It is well balanced with small proportions, the lower section containing two large deep drawers and the top section containing two short over three long drawers. It has a simple molded cornice and stands on small bracket feet. The drawers have brass plate handles which, although are not original, do suit the piece well. The two sections do split to make transport easier. The whole piece is in good condition. It is sturdy and the oak lined drawers are generally clean and tidy and all open well. It has developed a beautiful patina with a deep rich colour. There are signs of age and use, some small marks and knocks and minor old shrinkage splits in the sides but no major damages or anything detrimental. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions please ask. Free local delivery within 10 miles of Ashburton.
