Description

Wow, you need two hands to lift this mammoth magnifying glass, a great look for the library and a real talking point. The handle is made from cast brass and the frame for the glass a polished steel with a screwed construction keeping this huge domed lens in place. Early 20th century, around 1930 and in excellent condition (a few surface scratches to the glass commensurate with age). A rare find measuring a 17 1/2" long with a frame diameter measuring 9 1/2" and a lens measuring 8" in diameter. Item ID: 35017 FREE Worldwide Registered Airmail Directly From London, England
